THE FUND AT A GLANCE

Index investing has become one of the most popular investment styles in the United States. We feel that in efficient markets, the lower relative fees give our index funds a distinct advantage over actively managed funds with similar investment styles. Furthermore, investing in an index fund gives the investor diversification and a predictable management style.

- The stocks in the Fund represent roughly 88% of the total market index as measured by the S&P 1500.
- It is made up of large companies, many of which are leaders in their respective industries.
